

The Diocese of Salisbury is looking to appoint a

Associate Priest (Cottage for Duty)

The village of Chettle, Dorset

A cottage for duty, is available for a Priest to serve principally in the Chettle Estate, a small village and parish in the Chase benefice, Dorset, in the Diocese of Salisbury. A modest two-bedroom cottage will be provided by the Estate (which will also pay the Community Charge, expenses and money towards the telephone bill). The Priest will have eight Sundays holiday a year.

In return the Priest will offer:

- A love for rural ministry and rural people.
- Sunday duties in Chettle.
- Other Sunday duties in the wider Chase Benefice as required.
- Some modest mid week pastoral duties.

For informal enquiries please telephone, or write to the Rector; The Rev'd Dr Michael Foster. Further information can be found online on the Benefice Website
